SCULPTURE IN MOTION

The Sixth Annual Sculpture in Motion: The Art of Pre- and Post-War Automobiles rolls into the Ann Norton Sculpture Gardens (ANSG) on Saturday, November 12th with a full day of family-friendly activities. The event will honor Gold Star Families of Palm Beach County and local Veterans and will conclude with a Grand Tour Parade of Cars.

From 10am-4pm, Sculpture in Motion welcomes visitors of all ages to experience the history and artful design of one-of-a-kind, classic pre- and post-war automobiles. This year's collection includes the following: 1965 Lamborghini 350 GT, 1929 Duesenberg Model J Convertible Sedan, 1930 Cadillac V-16 Sport Phaeton, 1938 Lancia Astura Series III Tipo Bocca Pinin Farina Cabriolet and a 1996 Ferrari 512 M to name a few. Tours by renowned automotive historians will be offered throughout the day and guests will have the chance to cast their votes for 'Most Artistic,' 'Most Elegant,' 'People's Choice,' and 'Young Connoisseur.'

"This year, Sculpture in Motion will have the most impressive rolling sculptures to date that will transform the main lawn into an outdoor showroom," said Frances Fisher, Board Chairwoman for ANSG and Sculpture in Motion

Co-Chair. "We are thrilled to be opening our garden gates this season with a fun, family-friendly event, while honoring Gold Star Families of Palm Beach County and local Veterans. For six years running, we invite the community to witness these rare, one-of-a-kind automobiles in the natural surroundings of the Ann Norton Sculpture Gardens. You're not going to want to miss it."

Classic car star, author, historian and host Donald Osborne of CNBC Primetime's weekly show Jay Leno's Garage will return as the event's Grand Marshal and will host a talk at 2pm in the Gardens' Outdoor Classroom. For the sixth year in a row, John Barnes will be the featured Curator. The event's Honorary Chair will be Chuck Mitchell and the Co-Chairs include Sarah and Tim Benitz, Perri and Robert Bishop, Kim and Stephen Bruno, Samantha and Brendan Carroll, Frances and Jeffrey Fisher, Audrey and Martin Gruss, LinQing Yang and Cameron Lickle, and David Miller and Ray Wakefield.

The community and guests will have the opportunity to join a special tribute to Gold Star Families and Veterans followed by the Grand Tour Parade of Cars departing the main lawn at 4:15pm from Ann Norton Sculpture Gardens. The tour will feature 40 extraordinary and unique classic cars and will trace a scenic route from the Gardens along the Intracoastal on Flagler Drive offering a complimentary viewing opportunity for the public. It will include a five-mile loop crossing the Flagler Memorial Bridge to the Island of Palm Beach, heading south on South County Road then west on Royal Palm Way to conclude at the Flagler Museum.

"The Grand Tour Parade of Cars is the perfect finish to Sculpture in Motion," said Margaret Horgan, Managing Director for the Ann Norton Sculpture Gardens. "Many of these cars are part of personal collections of notable locals who enjoy sharing them with the public. We invite the community to put things in high gear for an up-close, complimentary look at some of the rarest cars in the world as they parade along the beautiful South Florida waterfront."

The Ann Norton Sculpture Gardens will have special admission pricing for the entire day on Saturday, November 12th. General admission is $30 per ticket. ANSG members and seniors are $25 each and children 18 and under are $12 each.
