

KRAVIS CENTER HONORS

BOARD OF DIRECTORS, LIFE TRUSTEES AND STANDING COMMITTEE MEMBERS

The Raymond F. Kravis Center for the Performing Arts honored its Board of Directors, Life Trustees and Standing Committee members at an annual luncheon recently.

Diane Quinn, Kravis Center CEO, welcomed guests and acknowledged luncheon sponsors Laurie Silvers and Mitchell Rubenstein, who have generously underwritten the event for the past 14 years. She also gave a special thanks to Board Chairman Jeffrey Stoops for his leadership, commitment and service.

“Our Board of Directors, Life Trustees and our Standing Committee members have been steadfast in their commitment to this incredible organization,” said Ms. Quinn. “Through the turmoil of the pandemic their dedication did not waiver. When it came time to open our doors again and shine, they were the first to make donations, lend a helping hand, and inquire about the health and welfare of our cherished staff and volunteers.”

Ms. Quinn paid tribute to Kravis Center Board Secretary James Harpel, who was completing his term as a Board member and will be awarded the designation of Kravis Center Life Trustee on June 30th. Ms. Quinn thanked Mr. Harpel for his outstanding legacy of leadership and distinguished service to the Kravis Center’s mission and to the community and presented him with a Tiffany pentastar in recognition of his service.

After lunch, guests were then treated to a video recap of the year and a sneak peek of next season’s 30th Anniversary highlights.

For general information about the Kravis Center visit kravis.org or call the Development Office at 561.651.4320.

FIRST ROW: Laurie Silvers and Diane Quinn; Jim and Judy Harpel; SECOND ROW: Sherry Barrat and Sherry Endelson; Linda and Allan Adelson; THIRD ROW: Kathryn Vecellio and Monika Preston; Bill Meyer, Mike Bracci, Jane Mitchell and Jeff Stoops; Eileen Berman and Joe Sanches. PHOTOS: CAPEHART

SUMMER 2022 PALM BEACH SOCIETY