

GOLF CLASSIC AND AWARDS LUNCHEON

MorseLife Health System teed up an unforgettable day of connection and philanthropy at its Annual Golf Classic and Awards Luncheon at The Breakers Palm Beach. Set against the backdrop of the historic Ocean Course, the premier event brought community leaders together to drive a meaningful impact for MorseLife's Hospice and Palliative Care program, which delivers comfort and compassion to seniors across Palm Beach County.

"MorseLife is incredibly grateful to everyone who made today's event such a success," said Keith Myers, President and CEO of MorseLife Health System. "Today's generosity will go a long way in helping us grow and enhance our Hospice and Palliative Care program. Every contribution makes a difference, and together, we are building a stronger future for the seniors who rely on us. Thanks to the amazing support of the community, we're able to continue delivering compassionate, comprehensive care to seniors when they need it most — ensuring they experience the dignity, comfort and support they deserve."

The day began with registration and breakfast at the Clubhouse followed by a morning of spirited play on Florida's oldest course. Tournament Chairs Pam and Ed Pantzer welcomed attendees and shared their gratitude for the outpouring of support during the celebratory Awards Luncheon. Since it was first established by MorseLife's volunteer leadership more than four decades ago, the Golf Classic has remained a sold-out event year after year.

"Today was a truly special experience — a perfect blend of golf, connection and community spirit," said Chairman Ed Pantzer. "We're incredibly thankful to every participant and sponsor who helped make it such a success. It's our hope that this event not only highlights the vital work MorseLife is doing but also inspires others to join us in supporting this important mission."

The event was made possible thanks to the generosity of Golf Classic sponsors, including Title Sponsor: Whiting Turner; MorseLife Golf Classic Chairs and Lunch Sponsor: Pam and Ed Pantzer; Breakfast Sponsors: Suzanne and John Golden and Phyllis and William Mack; Beverage Cart Sponsor: Hogson Russ; Sponsors of this year's golf gift — which included a dozen Callaway golf balls, a valuables pouch, a Breakers golf glove and sunscreen — CareOne Pharmacy, Michelle Farmer, Forvis Mazars and Judy Jokiel; Tee Sign Sponsors: Bonnie and Martin Gregge, Rochelle and David Hirsch, Janie and Arthur Indursky, Knight Corporations, Melman Family Foundation, Robbins Family and Andrea and John Stark; and Hole-in-One Sponsor: V2 Jets.

"The Golf Classic offers such a powerful way to share MorseLife's mission with a broader audience," said Ashley Robinson, Vice President of events for MorseLife Health System. "Beyond a great day of golf, the luncheon includes nongolfers as well and provides an opportunity to raise awareness about the critical services we provide and the difference we're making in the lives of seniors every day. Events like this help connect our community to our purpose in a very personal and lasting way."
