

JUPITER MEDICAL CENTER BLACK-TIE BALL

Philanthropists and supporters attended Jupiter Medical Center's 48th Annual Black-Tie Ball to celebrate the hospital's success and raise funds for its future. Hosted by the Jupiter Medical Center Foundation, the Black-Tie Ball took place at The Breakers Palm Beach. Michele Deverich and Craig Williamson chaired the event, and Jay Cashmere was the emcee.

The Black-Tie Ball was a tremendous success, raising over $1 million. A generous donor matched this amount in a remarkable show of support, propelling the total funds raised beyond the $2 million milestone. All proceeds will benefit the new Patient Care Tower, which is set to open later this year.

The Patient Care Tower is the next phase in Jupiter Medical Center's main campus expansion. The five-story, 92-bed tower will feature specialized medical staff and the latest technology. Each floor will be dedicated to a health care specialty, including oncology, cardiac and orthopedics—a proven model that leads to better outcomes and enhanced patient experiences. The project also includes an 800-spot, five-deck parking garage. This expansion exemplifies Jupiter Medical Center's unwavering commitment to excellence, enhancing quality of care and building a healthier future for all.

Support for this year's event came from these generous sponsors and underwriters: Presenting Sponsor: Vahan and Danielle Gureghian/Independence Home Health; Diamond Sponsors: The Baldwin Family, Susan and Christopher Pappas Family Fund, and Patrick and Marie O'Connor; Gold Sponsors: Michele Deverich and Craig Williamson/Tesa and Marty Dytrych, The Leo, Claire and Robert Adenbaum Foundation, Doane & Doane, TD Bank, Rosemary and Michael Laphen, Jeck Harris Counselors at Law, Lee and Jeffrey H.
